

When The Hunger Project trains just one person, the ripple effect it catalyses is far-reaching: to their children and spouses, to their neighbours and to the wider community. This is the power of The Hunger Project's empowerment model and approach to ending hunger.

